The snow brought so much joy to playtimes for all the children at St. Gregory's this week, and I've been very proud of how sensibly they've made the most of these opportunities for fun, friendship and snow sculpting!

Thank you to all for staying safe and following the routes marked on our gritting plan, which you can find on our noticeboard for future reference.

It's been a very busy week here, with our exciting new initiatives to help our pupils to become super-learners. We've added the Read Write Inc Storybooks to our phonics sessions across school, which children are enjoying. Pupils have also enjoyed bringing home their new Read Write Inc Book Bag Books - please remember that they should be read 3 times each and to record this in reading records. Books can then be changed on Tuesdays and Fridays.

I'm very excited about the hard work which has been taking place in making our Early Years building wonderful - it's going to be a super place for learners, very soon. Thanks to everyone who's given their time and effort to make this happen.

We've also had visits from experts from the Aspire Educational Trust, to support us in identifying how we can quickly and effectively make learning at St. Gregory's both great fun and high quality. These visits have already looked closely at English, Maths and Early Years, and we have clear pathways to develop in each of these areas.

Please remember that St. Gregory's is a no smoking and dog-free site.

I hope you all have a wonderful weekend.

Mr. Perry
